How to use our Google search feature to find Safety Data Sheet

Even though we have more than 13 million SDS in our database, we will miss some.

This is how we handle that case where you cannot find the SDS you are looking for in our database.

From our SDS search window click 'Search for "SDS" on Google'.

Search for Safety Data Sheet in our database of 11Million+ Safety Data Sheets.

This will often give you the desired result. You can then download the pdf you found and upload the file using our "Upload PDF file" feature.

Add SDS to our library

The screenshot shows the SDS Manager interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the text "Search for Safety Data Sheet in our database of 11Million+ Safety Data Sheets". Below this, there is a light blue box with an information icon and text: "To add Safety Data Sheets to your library, simply search for your products and add them to the location where the products are stored. You can build a hierarchical location structure that mimic your corporate structure down to floors and cabinets. Click here to add locations".

Below the light blue box, there is a yellow box with the text "Did you find the Safety Data Sheet on Google?". Below this, there is a light blue box with text: "If you found the SDS, download the PDF file of the SDS to your device upload. Our system will automatically extract data from the PDF file. You no not need to do any manual entry of any product data." Below this text, there is a blue button with the text "Click here to browse files" and a white box with the text "No, I did not find it. What can I do now?" and a dropdown arrow.

If you do not find the SDS when searching the internet, you should email your supplier and ask them to email you the SDS. They are required by law to supply their customers with updated SDSs.
